Swallow Will Fund and Direct the Future of Smart Cable TV with FilmMagic and Converge Los Angeles, CA — October 23, 2016 - Today, Swallow Media Group, the new consumer division of Swallow, the global media and technology group, announces FilmMagic as its first producing partner on digital content. FilmMagic is a content creation studio and creative agency specializing in the creation and curation of immersive content for brands, including innovative social experiences and original commercial content. From reality-based web series to branded content and TV, FilmMagic's pioneering team has worked with major brands like Samsung, Google, HBO and Netflix and produced original series and web series, such as "New Cars," "Beauty School with Lauren Tom" and the Emmy® winning "Seeking a Friend for the End of the World." The company's head of branded content, DJ Ehrlich, will lead Swallow's marketing team for its first branded campaign, conceived by Swallow. "We are creating a project from ground up that can help us connect with the creative community. It's a unique way for us to engage new creatives and studios and we're looking forward to working with the FilmMagic team to create something we're really proud of," said Swallow founder and CEO Steve Swallow. Converge, the leading sports content and marketing platform for mobile and TV, announced today an expanded partnership with Swallow Media Group, the future of smart cable TV. Converge provides a unified marketing and distribution platform for premium sports content; enabling its partners to create, manage and monetize a strong and engaged online, mobile and TV audience for traditional and digital rights holders alike. Swallow's digital entertainment business is expanding to reach fans with an array of content through an expanded partnership with Converge. "We're thrilled to partner with
